Paragraphs That Are of More Especial Interest to Women

What Women Are Doing.

Mrs. S. E. Cox, who recently completed an aerial trip from Houston, Tex., to Buffalo, N. Y., lays claim to making the longest aerial cross country flight of any woman in this country. While the plane was piloted by an army lieutenant Mrs. Cox is thoroughly competent herself when the occasion demands.

President Poincaré, of France, has promised to have placed in the archives of the government a great American petition demanding the protection of women under international law and signed by 40,000,000 members of women's organizations throughout this country.

In the Philippine Islands there are at least a half dozen women lawyers, any number of female physicians and nurses, a good many pharmacists and a large body of teachers.

At the present time there are thirteen foreign countries in which women may vote in municipal or other local elections, and twenty countries or states including the United Kingdom, where women may vote for members of the provincial state or national legislative body.

Only in the last twelve or thirteen years have women entered the business world in Porto Rico. One of the first women who worked there went from this country thirteen years ago. Now it is almost as usual there for girls and young women to go to work as it is for them to do so here.

Dr. Etta Gray, of Los Angeles, president of the Medical Women's National Association of which the American Women's Hospitals form the war and reconstruction committee, has been sent to Serbia and the Near East to investigate conditions and to arrange for the establishment of hospitals where most needed.

Women and children do most of the ruling and governing affairs on the Eskimo-inhabited Little Diomed, one of the Diomedes Islands that are cut in two by the international boundary line across the Behring Sea between Alaska and Siberia.

The women of Persia are still bound down by a host of conventions that would give pause to a Spanish duenna. She must be veiled wherever she goes, is not allowed to eat with her husband and not supposed to be seen unveiled by any other man save her very near relatives.

Meat Scraps Necessary. One of the most significant fact in feeding fowls for egg production, as brought out by experiments at the Ohio Experiment station, is that rations containing approximately 12 per cent. meat scrap decrease the cost of feed under present market prices more than 20 per cent. and increase the egg production more than 50 per cent. as compared with a ration containing only 2 per cent. of meat scrap. This comparison has held true with both the light and heavier breeds of poultry.

A ration in which the grain mixture was made up of three parts corn and one part wheat and the dry mash mixture of two parts by weight ground corn, one part bran and two parts meat scrap has given satisfactory results. The fowls consumed twice as much grain as mash.

A net return of $2 a hen over a four months period is the remarkable record of a North Carolina poultry club member who, about the middle of January, mated fifteen White Leghorn hens with a standard bred male of the same variety. During the ensuing four months these fifteen hens laid 1,108 eggs. Of this number fifty were placed in the incubator, from which forty-one chicks were hatched and all except five were raised. The owner marketed six cockerels for $3.60. He now has on hand thirty chicks. He sold 304 eggs for hatching purposes for $20.50, as well as 542 dozen market eggs for $20.07, making a total income from his small flock of $54.80. The cost of feeding the flock during this time was $21.40, which leaves a net return of $33.40.

To have had no boyhood and not to resent it;
To have gone hungry and not to have begged or stolen;
To have been in dire need and not to have succumbed to temptation;
To have faced and weathered adversity and not to have become warped by it;
To have lost one's foothold many times and to have remained courageous;
To have seen others profit by short cuts, yet to have remained honest and not to have grown bitter or cynical;
To have clung to hope and determination and not to have drowned in a pool of self-pity;
To have kept one's self-respect shining brightly;
To have achieved good fortune and recognition without permitting one's ego to become inflated;
To have others from heartbreaking experiences rather than to desire so-called satisfaction by seeing them suffer;

To share; to be an exponent of the law of compensation;
To meet the present by peering into the future and giving an upward lifting hand to the younger generation;

to deliberately bore down through the strata of accumulated years, locate the springs of boyhood, and to let them well up bubblingly into one's middle age—
That is virile manhood.

Coat Suits Awkward Indoors. Nobody can dodge the difficulty of managing a coat suit, if one must wear it both in the open and under the roof. It is not necessary to recount to women the vexation of having to remove a coat in the house because of the warmth to reveal a wash blouse that is not fresh and sometimes not clean.

The way out of this problem is the colored blouse, and until all the women accept it there will always be a question raised as to the serviceability of a coat suit as the mainstay of a winter wardrobe.

The French tailors advance the colored or white silk jersey blouse with a short peplum below the waist. The American tailors advocate a blouse the color of the suit with a white or cream collar a blouse that does not tuck in under the skirt belt. If one wears such a blouse, there is no difficulty in removing the coat at the theatre, at a restaurant or at any public place.

These blouses are often embroidered with bullion threads; they are partly chiffon; they have an ornamental belt, and they form, with the skirt a fro.

Pumpkin Pie. Pastry, 1 cupful of flour, 1 teaspoonful of salt, 2 teaspoonfuls of baking powder, 4 tablespoonfuls of shortening, 1 cupful of Cold water.

Sift the dry ingredients together; rub in shortening very lightly with finger tips; add water slowly, just enough to make a stiff dough; roll out on a floured board and use for bottom crust of pie, being careful to fold the pie away over the edge of pie plate. Fill plate with following and bake about twenty-five minutes:
2 cupfuls of stewed and strained pumpkin, 2 cupfuls of rich milk, or part cream, 1 teaspoonful of cinnamon, 1 teaspoonful of ginger, 1 cupful of granulated or brown sugar, 1 teaspoonful of salt, 2 eggs. Mix in order given.

Filled Cookies. One-third cupful of shortening, 1 cupful of sugar, 1 egg, 1 cupful of milk, 1 teaspoonful of vanilla, 3 cupfuls of flour, 4 teaspoonfuls of baking powder, 1 teaspoonful of salt.

Cream shortening; add sugar, beaten egg, milk and vanilla. Add the flour, which has been sifted with the salt and baking powder. Roll out thin on a slightly floured board; cut with a cookie cutter and place one teaspoonful of the filling on each cookie, cover with another cookie, press the edges together and bake in a moderate oven twelve to fifteen minutes.

Filling: 1 cupful of chopped raisins, 1 cupful of chopped figs, 1 cupful of sugar, 1 cupful of water, 2 teaspoonfuls of flour. Mix flour and sugar together; add water and fruit, and cook until quite thick, being very careful not to burn.

Wash it in Sunshine. Few housewives know the cleansing value of sunshine. They know the good effect of sunshine on themselves and their children. They know that if baby has had an outing in the sunshine he is rosy and good natured. They know too that their own spirits are brighter and life seems pleasanter when they have spent a few hours in a room where the sun has been shining. But that sunshine can actually be something that is just as valuable as soap and almost as valuable as water in that eternal task of the housewife—keeping things clean—they seem sometimes to forget.

No housewife likes to have good woolen blankets washed more often than is necessary. And there is little need ordinarily in washing them provided they are given a good sunning once every week or ten days. This cannot in any way injure the blankets. To be sure, we are warned not to hang woolen things when wet after a washing in the direct sunlight, but that is because the combination of sunlight and water is rather too much for them. But the sunshine alone can do no harm. And it does much good. It makes them fresh and actually gives them a sweet scent that is apparent to the one who uses them after they have had such a sunning. Especially sweet is the effect of this sunning if it has been given one a day when the air is dry and crisp besides.

All beddings should be occasionally sunned. This applies to mattresses and pillows too. In the house where there is a baby much attention should be paid to the value of sunshine. Baby's pads and mattresses should be hung out in the sun as often as there is a sunny day. Even the sunshine on your lounges should be given a sunning both once in a while and it is a good thing if once in a while you can have heavy upholstered furniture rolled on the veranda and brushed and then left to be sunned for an hour or so.

HOPE OF RELIEF

Additional Freight Cars Are Promised to South Carolina.

Immediate relief for the shortage of freight cars existing in South Carolina is promised by the United States Railroad administration according to a statement made by Frank W. Shealy, chairman of the South Carolina Railroad commission.

While at the conference of the National Association of Railroad and Utility commissioners, held last week at Indianapolis, Ind., Mr. Shealy took the situation with Max Theland, director general of public service, who promised to have cars sent into the territory after consultation with Region Director Winchell at Atlanta.

According to Mr. Theland, said Mr. Shealy, there was a surplus of empty box cars in the west, sent there to handle the grain harvest, which are standing idle on the side tracks of the railroads. These cars have some defects, such as holes in the flooring or leaky roof, and are not for the hauling of grain, but will do all right for the transportation of cotton, cotton seed and lumber, such as are piling up in the south through lack of cars.

The freight car shortage has been acute in the southeastern territory, particularly South Carolina, for some time, and the South Carolina commission has made many efforts to have this condition rectified. The shortage is particularly felt now, as farmers in every part of the state are selling their

With largely increased mechanical facilities, with editorial staff augmented, and an abundant supply of white paper, The Yorkville Enquirer is now more interesting and valuable than it has ever been, and it is the purpose of the publishers to still further improve it during the year 1920.

In order that it may be still more useful to the public this paper should have a much larger circulation, something like 4,000 or 5,000 copies per issue, and as this increase can best be brought about through the co-operative efforts of those who take and read the paper and know what it is, we are asking that each present subscriber do what he can to help swell the present mailing list.

OFFER TO CLUBMAKERS

We have the following liberal offers to make to CLUBMAKERS, all conditioned on the same rules and regulations heretofore obtaining, including the following:

CLUBMAKERS may return names as they get them, with the understanding that the Clubmaker is responsible for each subscription at the rate of 5 cents per week until February 14, 1920.

THIS IS IMPORTANT

Please remember, that under no circumstances must the Subscriber receive the paper for LESS than the Subscription Price advertised for Clubs, $2.50 a Year. The Publishers are bound not to violate this rule.

NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS

ALL NEW SUBSCRIBERS who give the Clubmakers the Cash ($2.25) with their subscriptions, will be entitled to receive The Enquirer until January 1, 1921, without charge for the time previous to January 1, 1920.

NO EXTENSION

Last year for reasons that were deemed sufficient, there was an extension of the time during which subscriptions were received at club rates, $2.25 per annum. The time was extended from November 1 to March 15. This year there will be no such extension, the club rate of $2.25 will be continued until February 14. On that date all unpaid subscriptions will be dropped from the mailing list and the subscription price from then onward will be not less than $2.50. At the rate at which the cost of white paper is now going up, it is quite possible that the subscription price after February 14, may be $3.00 or more.

A BETTER ENQUIRER

Kind words of commendation and appreciation from our subscribers and others who are not subscribers, mean a larger circulation, and a larger circulation of The Enquirer means a better and more valuable newspaper. We want all who can to serve our Clubmakers, and those who cannot conveniently act as Clubmakers may feel assured that their words of commendation will be appreciated both by the Clubmakers and publishers.

Our books for the Club campaign will be opened SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 1, and closed SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14. NEW subscribers who pay the Clubmaker the Cash along with their subscriptions, will receive the paper until January 1, 1921 without charge for the period previous to January 1, 1920.
